

Film Production ~ Business Directory 2026

Welcome to Culver City – The Heart of Screenland

Thank you for choosing Culver City for your production. For more than a century, our community has been home to the film and television industry, and we are proud to continue that tradition by welcoming productions of all sizes to Culver City.

Since November 2025, the City has expanded its efforts to make filming in Culver City easier, more affordable, and more production friendly. Through a comprehensive package of incentives and support services, the City is working to reduce production costs, streamline filming, support entertainment-sector jobs, and ensure that local businesses benefit from production activity.

The City's Film Incentive Pilot Program provides temporary subsidies for film permits and related staffing fees. Culver City has also made free production parking available, subject to availability, at designated City facilities and Downtown parking structures and extended the suspension of business tax collection for itinerant motion picture and television producers through 2036.

In April 2026, the City Council expanded these efforts by approving additional temporary film fee subsidies, further reducing the cost of filming in Culver City. These investments reflect the City's commitment to keeping Culver City competitive as a filmi destination and supporting an industry that remains an important part of our community and local economy.

The City is also working to promote Culver City filming locations and production resources, strengthen its partnership with FilmLA, and connect productions with local businesses and services.

This Film Business Directory is part of that effort. Whether you need a hotel, restaurant, caterer, transportation provider, retailer, production service, or other resource, we hope this directory makes it easier to hire, shop, dine, stay, and do business locally while your production is in Culver City.

Thank you for bringing your production to Culver City. We appreciate your investment in our community and look forward to welcoming your cast, crew, and production team to the Heart of Screenland.
